

Document Search

Papers within these proceedings have been indexed using Adobe Catalog. This provides a search facility for every word within the papers. To use the index, use the Search button  on the toolbar within your Adobe Acrobat viewer to display the following dialog box. (The following example is from version 4 of Acrobat running in Windows 2000).

If you have not used the conference index before, it will display something other than 'Searching in the 2003PCEE index' and you will need to tell Acrobat where the index is located. To do this:

1. Click the Indexes... button.
2. If the display is like the dialog box on the left below, you are ready to search and click OK.

If your dialog box is like that on the right below, you will also need to

3. Click the Add... button to select the index.
4. Find the index file on the conference CD, which is located at D:\PCEE7\PCEE7idx.pdx.
5. Click the Open button to display the dialog on the left.
6. Disable the 'Acrobat xxx Online guides so you don't search this index too.
7. Click OK to display the dialog box above and begin searching. The index should be available next time you open Acrobat.
